Long Island Westchester and Harlem Cup Holder Overcomes Long Lead in Each Set of Feature Match.

they are to play to-morrow over the Morris County Links at Convent, N. J. is to be one of the banner events of the metropolitan season. The last two years New Jersey and Westchester have had their annual clash. The advent of the Long Islanders evidently has added the necessary tang, transforming a pia'n hole and corner dual match into a regular classic of the links with all the armarks, trimmings and ornamentation of a championship.

Long Island has its National Links, its Lido, its Engineers and its Garden City. Such a linksman's paradise ought to produce class enough to dust the bunkers and comb the rough of Morris County with the players of the New Jersey and Westchester links. But will it? That is the big interrogation mark that overhangs to-morrow's gathering and pulls it out of the rut of ordinary as a golf match.

With T. D. Armour added to its torses Wastchester presents an allay the seatened to the limit by a new-comer to metropolitan tennis to prevent defeat. Yesterday in the third round Hammett again experienced considerable trouble, this time in a contest with Philip A. Bodkin, champion of the home club, this time in a contest with Philip A. it? That is the big interrogation mark that overhangs to-morrow's gathering and pulls it out of the rut of ordinary as a golf match.

With T. D. Armour added to its forces Westchester presents an array of strength at the outset that is almost staggering. John G. Anderson will not be so badly missed with the Westchester-Biltmore secretary in that like up. Armour. Sweetser, Sawyer, Wodthat is the Westchester send-off and at first blush it looks good enough to turn the tables on the twice triumpiant. New Jersey team and send the Long Islanderson scurrying back to the shelter of their seaside bunkers.

But after all it remains to be seen whether this quartet of Armour, Sweetser, Sawyer and Wood will be any better than the New Jersey four of Kirkby, Travers, Reekie and Dyer, of Kagnist this lead is not quite certain. Gardiner White will take another chance with his convalescent wrist and Grant A. Peacock will be there, of course. On paper, however, the Long Islanders are not so strong as their rivals at the head of the team, but they should be able to put in the field a side that, if not consistently brilliant, is strong from start to figish. In fact it is possible that general soundness will have not a little to do with the outcome of the match.

In a one day triangular team match only one line of procedure is possible. In the singles the players will be selected are:

Dartmouth Tennis Team Defeats Williams, 5 to 1

Williamstown, Mass., May 16.-Dartmouth defeated Williams at tennis here to-day, 5 to 1. Capt. The meeting was more evenly fought than the final score indicates, as a number of the sets went to deuce.
